What Is Going On Tonight.

St. John's Commandery, No. 11, R. T AMERICAN THREAD COMPANY

To Guild Big Power House and Erect Large New Pulp Spoel Mill-Other Improvements.

Nineteen hundred and twelve will Nineteen hundred and twelve will be a busy year with the American Thread company. It is said that the company will build a fine new power house to meet the increased demands of the various mills. It is understood that the power plant will be a thoroughly up to date electrical plant, sit-uated across the river below No. 4 mill. There is need also, it is said, of instailing a large new engine in one of the mills to replace one that is fast passing its usefulness. The greatest change for the improvement and enlargement of the ocal plant, however, will be the crection of a large pulp-spool mill.

The officials have decided that the pulp-spool making industry has passed its experimental stage and is so practical as to prove staple and therefore it has been deemed advisable to erect a plant for this part of the company's industry, to take care of the spool-making end of the business.

The mill will promably be located near the stone houses, to lessen the dislance of cariage and facilitate busness in various respects.

Work will be commenced at an early date, it is reported.

GOOD MAN-BAD BUSINESS.

Prosecuting Attorney and Judge Regret That John O'Neil Has to Be Fined Because His Agent Sold Liquor to Minors.

In police court Saturday morning. John O'Neill pleaded guilty to violating the liquor law by selling, through an agent, liquor to a minor. He was fined $10 and costs amounting to $29.80. At the time Mr. O'Neill was requested to appear in court a few days since, he knew nothing of the charge against him and entered a plea of not gullty. He was permitted to go upon his own recognizance until Saturday morning, at which time the case was scheduled for trial. In the meantime, he learned that a man he had tem-porarily hired to work for his regular bartender, who was ill, had soid liquor to a couple of minors.

In court he admitted to the authorities that he was satisfied that the two minors mentioned in the complaint had purchased liquor in his place, and second count, that of selling to Russell Rogers, aged 16, on the evening of January 27, the other count having been holled by Prosecuting Agent A. The prosecuting agent told the court that his investigation of the case showed that the minors had never before been in Mr. O'Neill's place and that they did not know either Mr. O'Neill or his bartenday. He sail O'Neill or his bartender. He said that Mr. O'Neill had always run a good place and had a good reputation for so doing, and that in his ten years' for so doing, and that in his ten years' experience as a prosecuting agent not a complaint had been lodged before against Mr. O'Neill. He recommended to the court that in view of the circumstances the lowest fine allowed be imposed. The court then imposed sentence on Mr. O'Neill, saying: "It must indeed seem send to hear such must indeed seem good to hear such things said about you, and I regre-that you find yourself placed in this manner, but you know the business of a liquor dealer is a hazardous one and that he is at all times responsible for the acts of his agent as well as those of himself. Dibatisto was put aboard the express due in this city at 9.26 a. m., when it came along, with the intention of sending him to the Day Kimball hospital, but he was terribly injured and died in the baggage room of the local railroad station before he could be removed to the institution.

Rev. Adrian Dykeman, assistant at St. Mary's church, administered the lest rites of the Catholic church to the dying man a few minutes before After four Ineffectual skin grafting operations on Eugene Bonneville, Put-mara, Ct., who is now confined in a private room at the city hospital, and who will surely die as the result of who will surely die as the result of kerosene oil burns on his back and up-per arms unless a grafting operation proves successful, Delor Davignon, 28 Green street, Putnam, $7., a friend of the injured man, has undergone a voluntary operation so that skin removed from both of his upper legs has ben grafted onto Mr. Bonneville.

It was learned at the city hospital yesterday that Mr. Davignon's sacrifice for friendship's sake was made willingly and that the contration was the dying man a few minutes before he expired, the priest answering a hur-ry call to the station, where, among

MILK COSTS MORE.

Advance of One Cent a Quart, Beginning Teday-Producers Say Step is Imperative.

There is going to be a boost at once in the wholesale and in the retail cost of milk to Putnam consumers. This general advance of one cent a quart will go into effect this (Monday) morning, in accord with the announcement in the wording of the following circular which was distributed by the milkmen while making their rounds on Sunday:

on Sunday: To Our Customers: Owing to the fact that the last two years hay and corn crops have been practically a failure, and owing to the high price of hay and grains, it is absolutely impossible to produce and deliver milk under six cents (6e) a quart wholesale and sev-en cents (7c) a quart retail. There-fore on and after Feb. 17th, 1912, the price of milk will be 6c wholesale and 7c retail.—Milk Producers' Wholesale and Retail Organization.

That the milk dealers have a fair chance of making the advance prices stick seems assured, but it was stated Saturday that there will be a well deand effort among large users of milk in the city to combat the advance by giving their business to milk dealers to have not gone into what is being alled a trust.

There are about 20 dealers who deliver milk in Putnam; of this number, it was stated by H. R. Huribut of Woodstock avenue, Saturday, about 28 of milk (for four quarts or over been five cents a quart, the retail price six cents a quart. It is understood that the milk deal-

It is understood that the milk deal-ers who have gone into the union agree to maintain the new schedule of prices and to post a forfeit of $25 each to do so, and failing to live up to the terms of the agreement they will forfeit their deposit, which is to be put in a local bank, the schedule of prices adopted to remain in effect until next fall at least, While some of the milkmen have not yet come in, most of those who sell yet come in, most of those who sellarge quantities of milk are affiliated and only a few dealers selling small quantities have not as yet considered the plan unfavorably.

Mr. Huribut said Saturday that some of the dealers who are holding out are doing so until they feel the project will be a "go," and are expected to come in later. While some dealers in the city have been gerting seven cents a quart for nulk at retail, this has not been gen-eral, and the effort to make a uniform selling price at seven cents is the ob-(Continued on Page Six.)
